Virgin Australia & Air New Zealand gets the tick of approval

The Virgin Australia and Air New Zealand codeshare partnership is now one step closer following authorisation by both the Australian and New Zealand regulators. This is great news for customers who will have access to greater value and choice when they fly across the Tasman. The regulators' endorsement reflects the strong consumer benefits this partnership will unlock when it launches later this year. We look forward to sharing more information as we get closer to launching the partnership.
